DETAILED ACTION

Inventorship

1. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-8, 10 and 12-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brodner (5,894,733) in view of Moore (5,855,289). The Examiner believes applicant to be familiar with this rejection at this point. Therefore, the Examiner will not repeat the rejection but will instead focus on specific elements of it below.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 10/18/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. As noted above, the Examiner believes the rejection above can be reduced to a main issue disagreed upon by the Examiner and applicant's representative. That disagreement is based upon a reading of element number (56) from Brodner. Applicant has now amended claim 1 to recite an anti-rotation element comprised of the lower-most surface that extends radially outward from the body outer surface. Applicant has then argued that the anti-rotation element of the instant claim is distinguished from the Brodner element because the element of Brodner is beveled and tapers. The Examiner respectfully disagrees. The Examiner fails to see how limiting the portion of the instant anti-rotation element that extends outward from the outer body to only the lower-most surface distinguishes it from element number (56) of Brodner. The Examiner concedes that the element (56) of Brodner does taper. But the Examiner believes that the point at which the element (56) extends from the outer surface would qualify as the lower-most surface of the element (56) and thus still meet the instant claims. That is, the lower-most surface of the antirotational element STILL extends away from the outer surface of the body. It has to extend away from the outer body or it would actually be part of the surface of the outer body and not part of the anti-rotational element. Therefore, the claims remain rejected.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
